Runway Growth Finance Corp. was experiencing difficulties with their formatting and collaboration process for SEC filings. The process was time consuming, multiple versions of drafts were being edited simultaneously, and formatting disclosures were cumbersome, which led to inefficiencies and stress.

They were looking for a software that would allow their team to efficiently collaborate on their filings, remove duplicate work, enhance controls over data integrity, and save time. They were in need of an SEC reporting solution that would effectively streamline their reporting process and provide peace of mind.
